A Message from Fr Stephens:

Dear Faithful,

On the 12th of March I was scheduled to have keyhole surgery to remove a small lump between my small and large intestine (an area called the 'caecum') that had recently become cancerous, half blocking that part of the bowel. However, in the weeks leading up to surgery, significant pain in the bowels occurred, which turned out to be caused by an abscess growing out from the lump and pulling that upper part of the colon down to the lower rectum and growing into it. This caused bowel distention, which made keyhole surgery impossible on the day, necessitating a far more elaborate operation and recovery. I was 9 days in St Vincent's hospital. Two sections of the colon had to be removed, totalling about 30cm, and I have a stoma (you'll have to look that one up) until mid-year. It is standard to check the lymph nodes of extracted pieces to determine if the cancer has spread. To my great relief and thanks, I found out this past Monday that there was no cancer found in any of the 45 lymph nodes taken out. A CT scan a couple of months ago had also showed there was no cancer detected in the body besides the small lump in the caecum.

I wish to thank Fr Elias and Fr Lavin in particular who picked up the slack during Holy Week, especially in hearing confessions. Moreover, many of you contacted me and had prayers and Masses said, for which I am so immensely grateful. I plan to return to teaching at the beginning of Term 2, albeit in a slower and slightly restricted manner initially. Thankyou again, and may Our Lord recompense you for your prayers. Fr Stephens
